Inbound marketing generates leads for 61 percent less than outbound marketing tactics. DesignRush determined the best inbound marketing strategies and the top 27 inbound marketing agencies to execute them.

NEW YORK, Mar. 26, 2019 /PRNewswire-PRWeb/ — The leads that inbound marketing cultivates cost 61 percent less than outbound marketing-born leads.

In addition, research shows that strategic inbound marketing tactics are 10 times more effective than outbound marketing. Plus, 41 percent of digital marketers say that inbound marketing generates a quantifiable return on investment.

But what constitutes inbound marketing and how can brands create a successful inbound strategy in 2019?

DesignRush.com, a B2B marketplace connecting brands with agencies, discovered the best inbound marketing tactics of 2019. These strategies help brands attract a valuable audience and generate meaningful leads that grow their business.

The top 3 inbound marketing strategies of 2019 are:

1. Link Building

Link building is an often-overlooked inbound marketing tactic that has the power to improve SEO rankings, brand awareness and website traffic.

Ultimately, brands partner with like-minded businesses, companies, or publications to secure relevant “follow” links pointing to their website and placed on strategic keywords.

This enables Google to better recognize a website’s information and relevance – thus improving its search rankings – and allows potential consumers to discover the brand more readily.

The following tactics can help brands invest in proper link building:

- Link building teams
- Media relations
- Brand partnerships
- PR and press releases
- And more!

2. Influencer Marketing

Studies show that 87 percent of B2B consumers trust influencer content over branded content or advertisements.

Plus, nearly half of all consumers rely on the recommendations of influencers to determine their purchases.

Brands can use inbound influencer marketing in a variety of ways, such as:

- Video marketing

3. Search Engine Optimization

It's no surprise that search engine optimization (SEO) is one of the most valuable forms of inbound marketing. After all, 93 percent of all online experiences originate from a search engine.

Through specific SEO strategies, brands can rank for relevant keywords that automatically target their demographic, providing the information they are looking for. This offers a lift in website traffic that results in long-term success.

In addition to link building, other SEO strategies include:

- Keyword research and optimization
- Content marketing and blogging
- Optimizing website speed
- Ensuring websites are mobile-friendly and responsive
- Adding relevant titles, H1s, H2s and meta descriptions
- And more!

"Brands who are hoping to achieve longevity in the marketplace need to prioritize inbound marketing," says DesignRush Founder and Chief Executive Officer Gabriel Shaoolian. "Plus, with the right marketing experts leading the charge, brands can have an extraordinary amount of control over the leads they generate and how helpful they are to growing the business."

DesignRush's Agency Listing section features the best local and global inbound marketing companies. Some of the top inbound marketing agencies from around the world include:
